

Off and Running- How to Get a Head Start on Your Graduate Career

Wednesday, September 16, 2009
198 Young
2:00-3:30pm

As you embark upon your new career as a graduate student, you may wonder how you can make the most out of this experience while preparing for your eventual career either in academia or beyond.

The first portion of this workshop explores ways to connect your graduate school experience with your future career goals, explore opportunities unique to the graduate school experience and how to build your career and career options while still in graduate school. The second part gives practical tips on how to develop your professional portfolio and curriculum vitae. You will also learn how to exercise proven strategies to enhance your marketability for future careers.

Workshop Leader: Teresa Dillinger, Ph.D., Coordinator, Career & Professional Development, Graduate Studies & the Internship & Career Center.

Sponsored by the Internship and Career Center, the Week of Orientation and Welcome & the Professional Development Series, Office of Graduate Studies

UCDAVIS